

If this step had been correct while the preceding record stayed the same, could the later failure still have occurred by the observed path?

no

plausible causal boundary

yes

probably a symptom